1870 by more sheltered from the S wind than is desirable by the growth of a large Beech tree within about 20 yards of it "I expect that the depth of rain at Norwich a little exceeds that at Dicleborough from what I have observed by comparing former tables as well as from the comparative apparent dryness of the soil and ditches which I have observed at various times." Extract from letter from F. Dix 1874 Gauge moved to Norwich Gauge bad and much sheltered
